The above resolutions were adopted. Mr. Addison moved that a committee be appointed to look into the matter, and ascertain to whom these grievances were attributable, and inform the superior offieers of the company. For this committee were chosen W. E. Addison, W. T. Goodloc and E. M. Hardin.

Mr. E. M. Hardin, of the furniture committee, reported that he had a talk with General Hardin on his recent trip to Kentucky, and the General expressed himself as being confident that he could raise the of the Commercial Club necessary capital in Frankfort for the establishment of a large furniture factory at this place. On motion by Mr. McDowell a commitw for tee of three was appointed to fit up the building proposed to be occupied by the club for holding meetings, and to have it ready for the next meeting. The following were chosen: Messrs. E. T. Shortt, C. A. Hardin, and W. S. Palmer. The liberty was given the committee to use their judg-ment in making the necessary expendiures to make the building comfortable.

In conclusion Mr. Hardin made a few encouraging remarks, saying that everywas working as nicely as possible for the Gap. He thought the stringency in the money market might retard the progress of some of the big schemes that and bankers in Lexington, and, while they were not lending money to outside par of went ties, they did not seem to be in the least alarmed at the present crisis.
